

Getting Ready for a First Appointment

For walking in prepared

UNDERSTAND IT

First appointments can feel like a lot, especially when you have to tell your story to someone new. A little planning helps you say what matters and get what you came for.

WHAT TO BRING

- | | |
|--|---|
| ☐ ID and insurance card | ☐ A list of my medications and doses |
| ☐ Names of my other providers | ☐ This sheet |

WHAT I WANT TO SAY

What's been going on, in a few words:

How long it's been going on:

What I want help with:

What I've tried before:

QUESTIONS I CAN ASK

- ☐ What kind of therapy do you use?
- ☐ How often would we meet?
- ☐ What will it cost? Do you take my insurance?
- ☐ What do I do if I need help between sessions?
- ☐ How will we know if it's working?

AFTER THE APPOINTMENT

Did I feel heard? YES SOMEWHAT NO

It's okay to try someone else if it's not a good fit. Finding the right person can take a few tries.

Notes from the appointment: